Community Development in Action – Community Transport

1. The Neighbourhood House Community Transport Project update

- RANCH Project Officer, Sue Birch

2. Identifying “good practice” – Case studies from RANCH Houses

What services are provided?

How and why were community transport services established?

How are they funded?

What factors contribute to the success of these services?

3. LUNCH

4. Supporting the development of community transport “good practice”

The next phase of the Community Transport Project will involve the development of a process to provide 2 x $5000 grants to extend or develop new community transport initiatives.

Member houses thinking about applying for one of the grants will have the opportunity to work collaboratively with the group to develop their ideas and reflect on good practice approaches. This will hopefully assist them to develop funding proposals that are clearly focussed on community development principles and practices.
